

The Servant Mantle Scroll

Witness

King Benjamin — Servant of the People

King Benjamin possessed authority, yet he did not use his position to elevate himself above the people.

He labored with his own hands.

He served among those he governed.

He taught that a ruler exists for the benefit of the people and not the people for the benefit of the ruler.

Though he was a king, he chose the path of a servant.

This is the mystery of the servant mantle.

The servant is often overlooked.

The servant rarely seeks recognition.

Yet the servant becomes one of the greatest pillars within the Kingdom.

The servant mantle teaches that true greatness is found in service.

The Function

The servant mantle exists to help, support, strengthen, and lift others.

The servant sees needs.

The servant responds.

The servant builds where things are broken.

The servant carries burdens.

The servant strengthens the weak.

The servant creates unity.

The servant places the welfare of others before personal gain.

Service is not weakness.

Service is strength under control.

The servant mantle allows the Kingdom to function.

Without servants, families weaken.

Without servants, communities struggle.

Without servants, ministries collapse.

The servant often becomes the unseen foundation upon which others stand.

Bible Witness

"Whosoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant." — Matthew 20:27

Book of Mormon Witness

"When ye are in the service of your fellow beings ye are only in the service of your God." — Mosiah 2:17

Both sticks testify that service to others is service unto Elohim.

The Responsibility

The servant mantle carries the responsibility of selflessness.

The servant must often work without recognition.

The servant must often give without immediate reward.

The servant must continue serving even when others fail to notice.

This mantle requires patience.

It requires humility.

It requires consistency.

The servant must resist bitterness.

The servant must resist pride.

The servant must remember why the work is being done.

Many seek positions.

The servant seeks opportunities to help.

Many seek honor.

The servant seeks usefulness.

Bible Witness

"The Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister." —
Matthew 20:28

Book of Mormon Witness

King Benjamin labored with his own hands so that he would not burden his people. — Mosiah 2:14

The servant mantle teaches responsibility through action rather than titles.

The Mind of Christ

The servant mantle remains governed by the Crown Mantle.

Christ washed the feet of His disciples.

Christ healed the sick.

Christ fed the hungry.

Christ ministered to the forgotten.

The King of Kings demonstrated the heart of a servant.

Without the Mind of Christ, service becomes performance.

Without the Mind of Christ, service becomes manipulation.

Without the Mind of Christ, service becomes a search for praise.

True service seeks no applause.

True service seeks no reward.

True service seeks to glorify Elohim.

The servant asks:

How may I help?

How may I strengthen?

How may I serve?

Bible Witness

"If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another's feet." — John 13:14

Book of Mormon Witness

"He suffereth himself to be mocked, and scourged, and cast out, and disowned by his people." — Mosiah 15:5

Christ remains the perfect example of servant leadership.

Mission Application

A person walking in the servant mantle today may:

- Help those in need.
- Support families.

- Strengthen communities.
- Assist leaders.
- Care for the elderly.
- Encourage the discouraged.
- Volunteer time and resources.
- Build unity wherever they serve.

The servant mantle often appears in ordinary moments.

A helping hand.

A listening ear.

A faithful worker.

A quiet sacrifice.

Many of the greatest servants are known by heaven and unnoticed by the world.

---

The Charge

Serve faithfully.

Help willingly.

Give generously.

Remain humble.

Strengthen others.

Carry burdens.

Seek usefulness.

Honor Elohim.

Let service become your language.

Let compassion become your strength.

Let humility become your greatness.

For the servant mantle does not seek the highest seat.

It seeks the greatest opportunity to serve.
