

THE SCROLLS OF CLARITY

Fifty Scrolls for Seeing Straight After the Storm

By Cedric Auberry

Opening Word — Why Clarity Comes After Endurance

Endurance keeps a person alive.
Clarity keeps them from returning to what nearly destroyed them.

Many endure suffering and survive it, but few learn why the suffering changed them 'til they see clearly.

Christ did not only call His disciples to suffer.
He opened their understanding after they endured.

This scroll is not written to explain pain.
It is written to steady the mind once the shaking has passed.

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth.”
— John 14:27

“And now, my brethren, after ye have tasted of this fruit... your knowledge is perfect.”
— Alma 32:35

Clarity is not noise.
Clarity is quiet agreement with truth.

Scroll Entry 1 — When the Storm Stops

The storm does not announce when it ends.
One day, the noise simply lessens.

And in the quiet, the mind begins asking questions the heart could not afford before.

Why did that relationship end?

Why did that door close?
Why did I survive what others did not?

Christ does not rush to answer these questions.
He waits until the shaking has ceased.

“And great was the calm.”
— Matthew 8:26

“And it came to pass that there was a great calm in the land.”
— 3 Nephi 11:30

Clarity begins when fear no longer speaks first.

Scroll Entry 2 — Understanding Comes After Obedience

Many want understanding before obedience.
Scripture shows the order is reversed.

The disciples followed Christ long before they understood Him.
Understanding came later—after walking, after failing, after enduring.

“If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine.”
— John 7:17

“Wherefore, if ye have faith ye hope for things which are not seen, which are true.”
— Ether 12:6

Clarity is not given to curiosity.
It is given to faithfulness.

Scroll Entry 3 — Seeing What Was Never Yours to Carry

Endurance often reveals burdens that were never assigned by God.

Some weight came from love.
Some came from fear.
Some came from silence where truth should have spoken.

Christ does not shame us for carrying what we did not understand.
He teaches us when to lay it down.

“Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.”
— Matthew 11:28

“Cast your burden upon the Lord, and he shall sustain thee.”
— Psalm 55:22
(compare Mosiah 24:14–15)

Clarity is learning the difference between the cross you were given and the weight you picked up trying to survive.

Scroll Entry 4 — When Christ Explains the Way Behind You

After the resurrection, Christ did not rebuke the disciples first.
He opened the scriptures.

“And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them.”
— Luke 24:27

“And he did expound all the scriptures unto them which they had received.”
— 3 Nephi 23:6

Clarity often comes backward.
You understand the road only after walking it.

Christ explains life the same way He explained the Word—line upon line, when the heart is ready to hear without fear.

Scroll Entry 5 — A Sound Mind Is a Gift, Not a Reward

Clarity is not earned by suffering more.
It is received by trusting Christ with the outcome.

“For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.”
— 2 Timothy 1:7

“And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds.”
— Philippians 4:7
(compare Moroni 8:3)

A sound mind is not the absence of memory.
It is the presence of peace.

Scroll Entry 6 — When Confusion Loses Its Authority

Confusion often feels powerful because it speaks loudly.
But volume is not authority.

Christ never competed with confusion.
He outlasted it.

“For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace.”
— 1 Corinthians 14:33

“And now behold, the Spirit of Christ is given to every man, that he may know good from evil.”
— Moroni 7:16

Clarity begins when you stop treating confusion as a guide and recognize it as a condition that passes.

Confusion is not a calling.
It is a signal that truth is near.

Scroll Entry 7 — The Difference Between Knowing and Being Ready

Some truths were always true.
You simply were not ready to carry them.

Christ said many things He did not explain immediately, not because the disciples were slow, but because they were still becoming.

“I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now.”
— John 16:12

“And it is given unto many to know the mysteries of God; nevertheless, they are laid under a strict command.”

— Alma 12:9

Clarity is not new information.
It is old truth arriving at the right time.

Scroll Entry 8 — When Peace Replaces Explanation

There comes a moment when answers stop mattering as much as peace.

Not every question is answered in words.
Some are answered by rest.

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee.”
— Isaiah 26:3

“And my peace I give unto you.”
— John 14:27
(compare 4 Nephi 1:15)

Clarity does not always explain the past.
Sometimes it frees you from needing to revisit it.

Scroll Entry 9 — Seeing People Without Rewriting the Story

Clarity allows you to see people as they are without rewriting what happened.

Forgiveness does not require denial.
Understanding does not require reconciliation.

Christ knew who would betray Him, and He still walked forward without confusion.

“For Jesus knew from the beginning who they were that believed not.”
— John 6:64

“And thus we see that by small means the Lord can bring about great things.”
— Alma 37:6

Clarity is the grace to see truth without needing to punish yourself for learning it late.

Scroll Entry 10 — When the Path Narrows and the Mind Widens

After endurance, the path often narrows.
But the mind widens.

You stop chasing many things and begin walking toward what remains.

“Enter ye in at the strait gate.”
— Matthew 7:13

“And they did walk in wisdom and in truth.”
— 4 Nephi 1:12

Clarity does not add more directions.
It removes the unnecessary ones.

Scroll 11 — When Distance Becomes Mercy

Sometimes clarity introduces distance.
Not as punishment, but as protection.

What once required explanation now simply requires space.

Christ withdrew often, not because He lacked love, but because He knew when silence preserved purpose.

“And he withdrew himself into the wilderness, and prayed.”
— Luke 5:16

“And he departed again into a mountain himself alone.”
— John 6:15
(compare 3 Nephi 18:36)

Distance is not always division.
Sometimes it is mercy wearing restraint.

Scroll 12 — Learning Who Walks With You by Who Remains

Endurance reveals many faces.
Clarity reveals who remains without needing persuasion.

Some walked with you in noise.
Others stayed in quiet.

Christ did not beg disciples to remain.
He allowed truth to separate without speeches.

“Will ye also go away?”
— John 6:67

“And they who were faithful remained steadfast.”
— Alma 62:41

Clarity does not chase loyalty.
It recognizes it.

Scroll 13 — When Discernment Replaces Suspicion

Suspicion watches everything.
Discernment listens and waits.

Endurance sharpens awareness, but clarity teaches restraint.

Christ knew what was in man,
yet He did not accuse without cause.

“For he knew what was in man.”
— John 2:25

“And by the power of the Holy Ghost ye may know the truth of all things.”
— Moroni 10:5

Discernment does not assume the worst.
It simply refuses to ignore truth.

Scroll 14 — Accepting That Not All Doors Reopen

Some doors close loudly.
Others close so gently you only notice later.

Clarity accepts this without bitterness.

Christ did not return to every town.
He moved forward without apology.

“And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God.”
— Luke 9:62

“And thus we see that the Lord doth chasten his people.”
— Helaman 12:3

Clarity does not ask why the door closed.
It asks where obedience now leads.

Scroll 15 — When the Mind Stops Arguing With Reality

There is peace when the mind stops negotiating with what is.

Not resignation.
Acceptance.

Christ accepted the cup without confusion,
not because it was easy,
but because the Father was trusted.

“Nevertheless not my will, but thine, be done.”

— Luke 22:42

“And the Lord did strengthen them that they could bear their burdens.”

— Mosiah 24:15

Clarity does not erase grief.
It removes resistance to truth.

Scroll 16 — Remembering Endurance Without Living There

Endurance does not disappear once clarity arrives.
It becomes a reference, not a residence.

You remember what it cost, but you do not return to live in the pain that taught you.

Christ bore the scars,
but He did not reopen the wounds.

“Behold my hands and my feet, that it is I myself.”

— Luke 24:39

“And he did show unto them his hands and his feet.”

— 3 Nephi 11:14

Clarity honors endurance without chaining the mind to suffering.

Scroll 17 — When Strength Becomes Quiet

Endurance is loud.
Clarity is quiet strength.

You no longer need to prove what you survived.
The weight you carry now is settled.

Christ did not announce His authority.
He walked in it.

“And Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believed not.”

— John 10:25

“And they did not doubt, but were firm and steadfast.”

— Alma 1:25

Quiet strength is not weakness.

It is confidence that no longer asks to be seen.

Scroll 18 — Letting Time Test What Remains

Clarity allows time to do its work.

You stop rushing decisions.

You stop forcing outcomes.

What belongs will remain without pressure.

What does not will fade without drama.

“But he that endureth to the end shall be saved.”

— Matthew 24:13

“And thus we see that patience hath its reward.”

— Mosiah 23:21

Time is not the enemy of clarity.

It is its witness.

Scroll 19 — When the Heart Learns to Stay Soft

Endurance can harden the heart if it is not followed by clarity.

But Christ preserves tenderness even in those who have suffered deeply.

A soft heart does not forget pain.

It refuses to let pain become law.

“Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.”

— Matthew 5:5

“And behold, they were firm and steadfast, and immovable.”

— Helaman 15:8

Clarity keeps the heart soft without making it naive.

Scroll 20 — Walking Forward Without Needing Closure

Not everything receives closure.
Some things receive release.

Clarity teaches the difference.

Christ did not resolve every conflict.
He completed His obedience.

“It is finished.”
— John 19:30

“And now I finish my commandment unto you.”
— 3 Nephi 27:33

Walking forward without closure is not denial.
It is trust.

Scroll 21 — When Stillness Stops Feeling Unsafe

There was a time when stillness felt dangerous.
Silence meant something was about to break.

Endurance trained the body to stay alert.
Clarity teaches the soul it is safe to rest.

Christ slept in the boat while the storm spoke loudly.
Stillness was not ignorance.
It was trust.

“And he was in the hinder part of the ship, asleep.”
— Mark 4:38

“And thus we see that the Lord is mindful of his people.”
— Alma 37:36

Clarity allows stillness without bracing for impact.

Scroll 22 — When You Stop Explaining Yourself

Endurance explains.
Clarity does not.

You learn that truth does not need defense
when it is lived quietly.

Christ answered when it mattered and remained silent when it did not.

“And Jesus yet answered nothing.”
— Mark 15:5

“And they marvelled, and did not accuse him further.”
— 3 Nephi 6:13

Clarity knows when words add weight and when they only add noise.

Scroll 23 — When Discernment Simplifies the Day

Clarity reduces complexity.

You stop overloading your days with decisions that once felt urgent.

Christ lived with purpose, not clutter.
He moved when led and rested when instructed.

“I must work the works of him that sent me.”

— John 9:4

“And they were diligent, and did not weary.”

— Mosiah 1:11

Clarity is not doing more things right.

It is doing fewer things with peace.

Scroll 24 — Accepting That Growth Looks Uneventful

Not all growth is visible.

Some of the most important work happens quietly.

Endurance looks dramatic.

Clarity looks ordinary.

Christ grew in wisdom without spectacle for years before being seen.

“And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature.”

— Luke 2:52

“And they did grow in faith and in good works.”

— Alma 1:30

Clarity teaches patience with the unseen work of God.

Scroll 25 — When You Stop Measuring Progress

Clarity ends comparison.

You stop measuring growth by milestones and begin recognizing fruit by peace.

Christ did not count days.
He completed obedience.

“My meat is to do the will of him that sent me.”
— John 4:34

“And now, behold, my joy is full.”
— 3 Nephi 17:20

Clarity is knowing you are where you are meant to be today.

Scroll 26 — When the Need to Be Understood Falls Away

Endurance often longs to be understood.
Clarity releases that need.

You learn that being seen by Christ is enough to steady the soul.

Not everyone will understand your silence.
That no longer troubles you.

“For I know whom I have believed.”
— 2 Timothy 1:12

“And now, after ye have tasted of this fruit, your knowledge is perfect.”
— Alma 32:35

Clarity rests in being known rather than being explained.

Scroll 27 — When the Past Stops Interrupting the Present

The past does not vanish.
It loses its interruptions.

Memories arise without pulling you backward.
Lessons remain without reopening wounds.

Christ remembered Gethsemane, yet He walked forward freely.

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace.”
— John 16:33

“And they did remember the words which Jesus had spoken.”
— 3 Nephi 7:18

Clarity allows remembrance without captivity.

Scroll 28 — When Obedience Feels Light Again

Endurance makes obedience heavy.
Clarity makes it light.

You obey not to survive,
but because trust has returned.

Christ called obedience rest.

“My yoke is easy, and my burden is light.”
— Matthew 11:30

“And the Lord did make their burdens light.”
— Mosiah 24:15

Clarity restores obedience as fellowship, not labor.

Scroll 29 — When You No Longer Rush the Future

Endurance waits for relief.
Clarity waits with patience.

You stop rushing tomorrow to escape today.

Christ walked toward the cross without haste.

“My hour is not yet come.”
— John 2:4

“And thus we see that the Lord doth grant unto men according to their desire.”
— Helaman 12:3

Clarity trusts timing without anxiety.

Scroll 30 — When Peace Becomes the Measure

Endurance measures survival.
Clarity measures peace.

You begin to evaluate choices
by whether they preserve rest in Christ.

Peace becomes the witness.

“And let the peace of God rule in your hearts.”
— Colossians 3:15

“And they did walk in peace and righteousness.”
— 4 Nephi 1:18

Clarity does not chase outcomes.
It guards peace.

Scroll 31 — When You Stop Rehearsing Old Conversations

Endurance replays what was said.
Clarity lets conversations end.

You no longer rehearse words you wish you had spoken or responses that came too late.

Christ did not revisit every accusation.
He moved forward in truth.

“And when he was reviled, he reviled not again.”
— 1 Peter 2:23

“And he answered them not again.”
— Mosiah 12:4

Clarity releases the need to correct the past with imagined words.

Scroll 32 — When Trust Returns Without Innocence

Clarity restores trust, but not naivety.

You learn how to trust without surrendering wisdom.
How to love without abandoning discernment.

Christ entrusted Himself to the Father while knowing the hearts of men.

“But Jesus did not commit himself unto them.”
— John 2:24

“And they were cautious, lest they should be deceived.”
— Alma 46:8

Clarity balances openness with wisdom gained through endurance.

Scroll 33 — When Your Inner World Becomes Ordered

Endurance creates survival systems.
Clarity creates order.

Thoughts no longer collide.

Emotions no longer compete for control.

Christ brought order simply by speaking truth.

“Peace, be still.”

— Mark 4:39

“And there was a great calm.”

— 3 Nephi 8:13

Clarity does not silence everything.

It places things where they belong.

Scroll 34 — When You Stop Borrowing Strength

Endurance borrows strength to keep going.

Clarity walks in_toggle strength.

You stop reaching for what once carried you.

You stand on what remains.

Christ did not lean on crowds.

He leaned on the Father.

“I can of mine own self do nothing.”

— John 5:30

“And they did put their trust in the Lord.”

— Helaman 3:35

Clarity teaches you what can truly support your weight.

Scroll 35 — When Simplicity Stops Feeling Like Loss

What once felt like loss

now feels like room to breathe.

Clarity simplifies life without shrinking it.
You carry less, yet feel fuller.

Christ chose simplicity without fear of missing anything.

“Take heed, and beware of covetousness.”
— Luke 12:15

“And they were content with that which they had.”
— Alma 1:30

Clarity reveals that less can sometimes be abundance.

Scroll 36 — When Identity Stops Needing Defense

Endurance often feels misunderstood.
Clarity no longer argues identity.

You stop correcting assumptions.
You stop explaining who you are becoming.

Christ did not defend His identity to be believed.
He lived it.

“I told you, and ye believed not.”
— John 10:25

“And they were known by their works.”
— Alma 1:12

Clarity lets identity settle without debate.

Scroll 37 — When You Trust What Is Being Formed

Clarity allows patience with what is unfinished.

You no longer rush growth or pressure yourself to arrive.

Christ trusted the Father with what was being formed, even when unseen.

“The Father loveth the Son, and hath given all things into his hand.”
— John 3:35

“And the Lord worketh by means.”
— Alma 37:7

Clarity trusts the process without needing to see the end.

Scroll 38 — When You Stop Mistaking Urgency for Calling

Endurance often responds to urgency.
Clarity responds to instruction.

You stop mistaking pressure for purpose and haste for obedience.

Christ moved when sent,
not when rushed.

“Go not into the way of the Gentiles.”
— Matthew 10:5

“And they did not run faster than they had strength.”
— Mosiah 4:27

Clarity teaches you
the pace of obedience.

Scroll 39 — When Quiet Faith Feels Complete

Clarity restores contentment in simple faith.

You stop needing constant confirmation.
Trust becomes steady, not loud.

Christ blessed those who believed without seeing.

“Blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed.”
— John 20:29

“And blessed are they who shall believe in your words.”
— 3 Nephi 12:2

Clarity allows faith to rest without performance.

Scroll 40 — When the Heart Knows It Is Kept

At some point, clarity settles into assurance.

Not arrogance.
Not certainty about tomorrow.

Just the quiet knowing that you are kept.

“My sheep hear my voice... and they shall never perish.”
— John 10:27–28

“And they were encircled about with fire.”
— Helaman 5:23

Clarity rests knowing that what Christ keeps does not slip.

Scroll 41 — When You Walk Without Needing a Map

Clarity does not always give direction.
Sometimes it removes fear.

You learn how to walk one step at a time without needing to see the whole path.

Christ did not show the disciples the end at the beginning.
He said, Follow me.

“Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.”
— Psalm 119:105

“And thus they were led by the Spirit.”
— 1 Nephi 4:14

Clarity lights the step,
not the distance.

Scroll 42 — When Endurance Becomes Companionship

Endurance once felt lonely.
Now it walks beside you quietly.

You no longer wrestle with it.
You understand its place.

Christ endured the cross,
yet He walks with His people still.

“Lo, I am with you alway.”
— Matthew 28:20

“And he did walk with them.”
— 3 Nephi 17:3

Clarity turns endurance from burden into companion.

Scroll 43 — When Faith Is No Longer Fragile

Clarity steadies faith.

It no longer bends with every question or trembles at every delay.

Faith becomes something you walk in,
not something you defend.

“Now faith is the substance of things hoped for.”
— Hebrews 11:1

“And they were firm in the faith of Christ.”
— Alma 27:27

Clarity gives faith weight without heaviness.

Scroll 44 — When You Stop Looking Back to Measure Growth

Clarity does not keep score.

You stop measuring how far you’ve come and begin honoring where you are.

Christ did not ask His disciples to tally progress.
He asked them to remain.

“Abide in me, and I in you.”
— John 15:4

“And they did remain faithful.”
— Helaman 15:8

Clarity stays present without comparison.

Scroll 45 — When Peace Walks Ahead of You

At some point, peace goes before you.

Not as a guarantee of ease,

but as a witness of alignment.

You learn to follow peace
as you once followed urgency.

“And the God of peace shall be with you.”
— Philippians 4:9

“And they were led by the peace of the Lord.”
— Alma 58:11

Clarity lets peace lead without explanation.

Scroll 46 — When You Accept That Endurance Remains

Endurance does not end.
It matures.

You no longer resist it or fear its return.

You understand now that enduring unto the end is a way of walking.

“He that endureth to the end shall be saved.”
— Matthew 24:13

“And blessed are they that endure.”
— 2 Nephi 31:20

Clarity teaches endurance
how to breathe.

Scroll 47 — When the Day Is Enough

Clarity brings contentment to the day.

You stop borrowing trouble from tomorrow or revisiting yesterday for answers.

Today becomes sufficient.

“Take therefore no thought for the morrow.”
— Matthew 6:34

“And they lived after the manner of happiness.”
— 4 Nephi 1:16

Clarity learns how to live today well.

Scroll 48 — When Christ Remains the Measure

Clarity does not make you the standard.
Christ remains the measure.

You return often to His words,
not to correct yourself,
but to stay aligned.

“Looking unto Jesus.”
— Hebrews 12:2

“And they did look unto Christ.”
— 2 Nephi 25:29

Clarity keeps the eyes
where endurance first learned to look.

Scroll 49 — When Walking Becomes Prayer

Clarity simplifies prayer.

You stop performing words and begin walking honestly.

Life itself becomes conversation with God.

“Pray without ceasing.”
— 1 Thessalonians 5:17

“And they did pray continually.”
— Alma 34:39

Clarity turns walking into communion.

Scroll 50 — Walking Clear, Enduring Still

This is not the end of endurance.
It is the steadiness that allows it to continue.

Clarity does not remove the road.
It keeps the heart aligned while walking it.

Christ endured faithfully,
clearly,
unto the end.

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace.”
— John 16:33

“And if ye endure to the end, behold, thus saith the Father: Ye shall have eternal life.”
— 2 Nephi 31:20

Clarity walks with endurance until the end is reached.

An Invitation — The Way Remains Open

Clarity is not given so a man may stand still.
It is given so he may turn rightly toward Christ.

Endurance teaches you how to survive.

Clarity teaches you how to see.
But repentance teaches you how to return.

Christ did not preach clarity alone.
He preached repentance.

“Repent ye, and believe the gospel.”
— Mark 1:15

“And he commandeth all men that they must repent.”
— 2 Nephi 9:23

Repentance is not shame.
It is alignment.

It is the honest turning of the heart from what cannot save to Him who can.

When clarity has done its work,
the question is no longer What happened to me?
The question becomes, Who am I walking toward?

Christ gave the answer plainly.

“Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.”
— John 3:5

“And after ye have repented of your sins, and witnessed unto the Father that ye are willing to take upon you the name of Christ, by baptism... then shall ye receive the Holy Ghost.”
— 2 Nephi 31:13

Baptism is not the reward for clarity.
It is the covenant that clarity points toward.

It is the burial of the old walk and the beginning of a new one.

It does not mean endurance ends.
It means endurance is no longer walked alone.

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up... even so we also should walk in newness of life.”
— Romans 6:4

“And then cometh a remission of your sins by fire and by the Holy Ghost.”
— 2 Nephi 31:17

If these scrolls have steadied your mind, if they have helped you see clearly,
then let clarity do what it was meant to do:

- 👉 Turn your heart toward Christ.
- 👉 Repent honestly.
- 👉 Be baptized in His name.
- 👉 Walk forward enduring to the end.

Not because you are ready.
But because He is faithful.

“Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden.”
— Matthew 11:28

“And now, my beloved brethren, I would ask, is all done? Nay.”
— 2 Nephi 31:19

The way remains open.
The walk continues.
Christ still calls.

For Assistance

If you desire repentance and baptism, or if you seek guidance on how to walk this covenant path plainly before Christ, assistance is available.

No church membership is required.
No organization stands between you and obedience to Christ.

If you need counsel, clarity, or help taking the next step in sincerity, you may reach out directly:

firescribeofisrael@gmail.com

This is not an enrollment.
It is not an altar call.
It is help for those who are ready to walk.

“Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find.”
— Matthew 7:7

“And if ye shall ask with a sincere heart, with real intent... he will manifest the truth.”
— Moroni 10:4

Christ remains the mediator.
The covenant remains personal.
The way remains open.
